

*The housing market moves in cycles,
just like the economy.
However, it consistently proves to be a great long term investment.*

The above graph represents the average rate of home appreciation from 2000 to 2015 for the state of Mississippi. Data provided by the Federal Housing Finance Agency's Housing Price Index (HPI).

CONSIDER THIS:

- A home purchased in 2000 for $100k would be valued at $136,787 in 2015.
- A home purchased in 2000 for $200k would be valued at $273,573 in 2015.
- A home purchased in 2000 for $300k would be valued at $410,360 in 2015.
